

STUDY IN GERMANY – Make it in Germany

International Student Guide

WELCOME TO GERMANY

The land of innovation

German universities are regularly ranked among the world's best and the country itself has plenty to offer to students from abroad.

In a recent ranking compiled by Study.eu, Germany was deemed the most attractive study destination for international students in Europe. The superb quality of the German higher education system, the number of English study programmes and the moderate cost of living are factors that contribute to Germany's ranking as the most attractive country in Europe to study in. Low crime rates in general and a low unemployment rate for university graduates make the nation in the heart of Europe a perfect study location. In addition, graduates from German universities are eligible to apply for an 18-month residence permit in order to find work.

Reputation

German higher education is one of the best in the world. "Made in Germany" – may it be cars or education – is seen as a global quality seal. A German university degree is highly respected by employers around the world.

Job Opportunities / Work Conditions

Germany's economy is the strongest in Europe and the fourth strongest in the world. There are enormous employment and career opportunities for skilled professionals. Germany's youth unemployment rate and the unemployment rate for university graduates are both very low. After graduating from a German university, former students have the right to stay in Germany for 1.5 years in order to find work and to take up employment. After working for two years they might be eligible to apply for a settlement permit.

Safety

Germany is a very safe country. The police are reliable and help you in every situation. Whether you live in a big city or in a small town, you can pretty much move around day or night without having to take any special precautions.

Living Costs

Compared to other European countries, the living costs in Germany are very moderate. Students benefit from a lot of concessions. You can receive reduced prices at theatres, museums, opera houses, cinemas, swimming pools and other institutions. All you have to do is present your student ID.

Culture

Germany is home to renowned poets and philosophers such as Goethe, Schiller or Kant but the country has a lot more to offer: a diverse arts scene, festivals and Oktoberfest. Big cities like Berlin offer a wide range of recreational activities, such as street food festivals, film festivals, concerts and thousands of parties to go to.

FACTS ABOUT GERMANY

- ✓ Germany is known as 'the land of poets and thinkers'
- ✓ Germany is a pioneer in the fields of climate protection and renewable energies
- ✓ Small and medium-sized enterprises account for around 52 percent of Germany's entire economic output
- ✓ Munich's Oktoberfest is the world's biggest folk festival

Public Transport

Public Transport in Germany and Europe is excellent. You can live in any large German city or metropolitan area without owning a car. Even medium-sized cities have good public transportation systems including buses, trams, and urban/suburban rail lines.

STUDY AT SRH

Learning for Life

SRH Holding is a leading private provider of both educational and health-care services in Germany. Founded in 1966 and active in two service markets which are critical to the economy - education and health care – SRH has its focus on long-term growth opportunities and providing high quality in all its areas of business.

Within the holding, there are seven private universities (located in Berlin, Gera, Hamm, Heidelberg, Oestrich-Winkel, Riedlingen, Wiesbaden and Asunción – Paraguay) with more than 12,000 students and more than 130 study programmes in total. This makes us one of the leading providers of university education in Germany.

COMPETENCE AND PRACTICE ORIENTED – THE CORE PRINCIPLE

Teaching and learning at SRH is inspired by our CORE principle. CORE stands for competence-oriented research and education, and marks an innovative approach to teaching and learning.

Practical skill-building: Study programmes are organised in five-week blocks. You learn and work in small groups, focusing on real-world business or research challenges.

Dynamic learning environment: We provide you with the space and equipment that will best support you. Different and interactive learning and teaching methods, such as group work, seminars, role-plays and debates, enhance your learning process.

Personal support: While focusing on your work, you receive active guidance from your mentors.

Continuous performance feedback: Ongoing performance evaluations at the end of each five-week block ensure a continuous feedback loop and relieve you from end-of-year exam stress.

Industry insights: Our excellent ties to business and beyond help you gain first-hand professional experience.

Moderate tuition fees: Compared to other international universities, tuition fees at SRH are moderate.

I MADE MY CHOICE!

SPOORTHY SREENIVASAN, Graduate of the Master's programme Applied Computer Science

» I decided to do my Master's degree in Germany because Germany is an attractive place to study and German university degrees are highly respected by employers worldwide. «

HAROLD OSADEBAMWEN OGEDEGBE, International Hotel Management

» The University provides competencies which are in-line with the industrial requirement on a large scale. I feel not only well-prepared for the working life, I have also made a huge progress as an individual. «

WARREN CHANNELL, International Business Administration

» Students here are from all over the world, they offer sharp, creative input, and analysis from their own unique experiences; so our in class discussions are often fascinating. «
